Subject: RE: UPDATE: Draft PFAS Management Plan schedule
Importance: High

Hi David – I spoke to Peter Grevatt this am, here is the status.

FRN has been cleared by David Ross and by OMB and is ready to go. Peter is going to get a copy of the final and send to us.

There was a bit of confusion because OMB had received several versions from different sources in EPA, Peter believes the final draft reflects the edits and requests of OMB so he and David Ross are comfortable this is ready to go.

Will ping Peter again later if we don't get that draft.

Regards, Andy

No, Lahne has been shepherding that, she thinks it is with David Ross. I'll ask my contact. One OW source said they thought there was a tentative public release date of 11/14 for the drafts.

Latest on plan for EPA PFAS Management plan from Peter, below.

Attached to this email is the draft of the R&D section which I sent to Peter last night. I accepted Bruce's tracked changes, then added additional edits where relevant from Lou and David (as conveyed by Lou). Hopefully this is close, we get one more chance tomorrow (Wednesday) to go over the whole package.

Subject: UPDATE: Draft PFAS Management Plan schedule

Hi Folks. Thanks very much to each of the programs and regions for your very helpful comments on the draft PFAS management plan. Tomorrow morning, we will share an updated version of the document that been revised based on the comments we have received and the restructuring requested by the Acting Administrator for a 24-hour review. We will then quickly address any remaining comments on the substance of the document and will provide the revised document to the Acting Administrator on Friday. Thanks again to all for your assistance on this!

P. Grevatt
